

CRAFTER'S LONDON DRY GIN

"IWSC silver medal in London Dry Gin category"

Story

Liviko's history goes back more than 100 years, and distillation is in their blood. For Crafter's London Dry Gin, Master Distiller Hanna Kaur tried 22 different recipes, and this 23rd was the climax of the experiments. Crafter's Gin is distilled in batches by pan distilling Liviko in two copper pans (named Mahta and Elfride). The main spices used, in addition to juniper berry, are Veronica (speedwell) and fennel.

Producer

AS Liviko is a dynamic Estonian producer and distributor of both alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages, with a history spanning over 122 years. The company is particularly renowned for Finnish consumers for its Vana Tallinn and Metsmaasika liqueurs, with the former being introduced in 1960. Liviko became a joint-stock company in 1995 and is currently owned by NG Investeeringud, one of the leading investment companies in Estonia. The conglomerate also holds ownership in various ventures, including Kaubamaja department stores. Among Liviko's most prominent products today are not only liqueurs but also Crafter's Gin and the organic vodka, Hõbe.
