DOMAINE PRIEUR-BRUNET SANTENAY- MALADIÈRE 1ER CRU

Domaine Prieur-Brunet

"Elegant Santenay"

Story Santenay-Maladière is located in the middle of the Santenay slope. On its west side, the soil is made of brown clay, and on the east side, the vines are planted on a limestone slab. The Prieur-Brunet vineyard is five hectares in size and some of the vines are over 50 years old. The vineyard has a long history and an excellent reputation as a producer of elegant wines. Louis Jadot bought the vineyard in 2017. However, Prieur-Brunet retained its team and style, continuing its centuries-old tradition of winemaking on its own.

Producer "The history of Domaine Prieur-Brunet began in 1804 when brothers Claude and Jean Prieur established their family-named vineyard in the Santenay region of Burgundy. In 1955, the name changed to its current form, Domaine Prieur-Brunet, when Guy Prieur married Elizabeth Brunet. This union led to the expansion of the estate, incorporating vineyards belonging to the Brunet family in the Meursault area. In total, the estate covers 18 hectares of vineyards. Dominique Prieur and his son Gillaume had been managing the estate for the eighth generation when Louis Jadot acquired the estate in 2017. Therefore, Louis Jadot continues the prestigious work of the Prieur family in winemaking, which has spanned over two centuries."

COLOR Bright ruby red

AROMA The elegant scent is reminiscent of wild strawberries, raspberries, red currants, violets, leather, oak and cloves

TASTE Elegantly berrylike, with silky tannins, mouthwatering acid structure, exemplary balance, but there's also Santenay's terroir, powerful and slightly rustic

TIPS FOR USE Pairs well with bird dishes, e.g., duck, pheasant and willow grouse. Game bird sauces can be elegantly herbal. You can also try lighter meat dishes such as veal with this wine. Santenay is great for a wide range of cheeses.
