B&G CABERNET SAUVIGNON 18,7 CL

Story

Selection of vines located in the coolest areas of the Languedoc region near Limoux (wide temperature range between cool nights and warm days) and in the Gard region where the weather is warmer. The different terroirs (clay and limestone in Limoux and gravels in the Gard) add complexity and richness to the wine. De-stalking and crushing of the grapes – alcoholic fermentation in vats with punch overs twice a day (temperature control around 27°C / 81°F) – micro-oxygenation before malolactic fermentation to enhance the color and to supple the tannins. Malolactic fermentation in vats.

Producer

Barton & Guestier is a wine business with an almost three-century-long history, founded by the Irishman Thomas Barton in 1725 when he settled in the city of Bordeaux. In 1802, his grandson partnered with the Frenchman Daniel Guestier, and the business flourished for a long time, shipping Bordeaux wine on ships to Ireland, England, the Netherlands, and the USA. The esteemed company faced its biggest challenges due to the devastation caused by phylloxera and the two World Wars. While no longer family-owned, the traditions persist with dedicated professionals delivering French wines to 130 different countries, widely available even at international airports. Barton & Guestier's range showcases an impressive array of France's important wine regions: Bordeaux, the Loire Valley, Burgundy, Beaujolais, the Rhône Valley, Languedoc, Gascony, and Corsica. The company collaborates with around 200 winegrowers in these areas. Barton & Guestier focuses on offering high-quality, typically French wines to the world while considering the requirements of sustainable development.

COLOR Deep garnet red with purple hue

AROMA Expressive nose with aromas of blackcurrant and blackberry, also flattering toasty and spicy notes.

TASTE Suave and velvety on the palate with smooth tannins balanced by a fresh acidity. Flavors of blackberries and licorice linger gracefully on the lengthy finish.

TIPS FOR USE Grilled red meat, pasta, spicy dishes and cheese.
