"An amazingly stunning wine"

Story The vineyard is one of the most famous in the Kamptal region. The soil of the terraced vineyard on the slopes is a mixture of sandstone and volcanic soil. Thanks to its soil the Heiligenstein vineyard produces characterful wines. Peter Schweiger discards a large proportion of grapes and uses only the best and most ripe grapes for his wines. After gentle pressing and fermentation, some of the wine has been allowed to rest with the lees in temperature-controlled steel tanks and some in casks until the end of February. After that, the wine is blended and bottled in the middle of March.

Producer "Weingut Peter Schweiger is an Austrian wine producer located in Zöbing, at the southern end of the Kamptal wine valley, known for their crown jewel, the Zöbinger Heiligenstein vineyard. The estate comprises a total of 18 hectares of vineyards. Peter Schweiger and his son, Peter Junior, pay particular attention to sustainable practices and respect for the soil and nature. Work in the vineyard, careful vinification, and adequate cellar aging are the cornerstones of their winemaking process. The compass on the label signifies their commitment to their wine region, with the clock pointing to the IV position, representing Peter Schweiger's intention to give the wine time to develop. This means that wines from a particular year are not released for sale until April of the following year. Gentle handling of the grapes, controlled fermentation, and regular stirring of the wine on its lees produce rich, velvety, and full-bodied wines with refined fruitiness, excellent drinkability, and great potential for aging."

COLOR Bright golden

AROMA The scent is reminiscent of white flowers, grapefruit, ripe citrus fruits, yellow plums and herbs

TASTE Dry, refined and acidic, ripe notes of citrus, yellow plum, nuanced, lively, long with mineral notes. An elegant, succulent and nuanced wine

TIPS FOR USE Fried and grilled fish and smoked salmon. Also great with Asian cuisine
