

"Alentejo's Tempranillo"

Story Spain's proudest red wine grape Tempranillo is known as Aragón in Alentejo, Aragones and Aragonez. In the Douro Valley, the same grape is known as Tinta Roriz. In Alentejo, this grape has been in use for a long time and is considered to be the noblest grape in the area. Low yields and early harvesting produce great wines in this area, of which Aragonez Vinha da Mina, who grew up in granite soil, is a fine example. Fermented in refrigerated tanks and maturation in large oak containers for nine months. Bottles of a small batch of wine are numbered. The best serving temperature is 16 °C.

Producer Casa Relvas, a Portuguese winery, aims to produce quality wines for all occasions; wines that evoke good times and represent Alentejo's gift to the world. Established in 1997, the young company has experienced significant growth, managing 750 hectares of cork-producing forests, 250 hectares of olive groves, and 350 hectares of vineyards. Consistency in high-quality production characterizes the six million wine bottles produced annually, earning hundreds of awards and excellent reviews from wine critics. The producer has been awarded the Earth Friendly winery status and engages in numerous environmental conservation projects alongside winemaking. Relvas also focuses on sustainable development through social and economic initiatives. Five percent of Relvas' production is certified organic wines.
