COUSIÑO-MACUL ANTIGUAS RESERVAS CABERNET SAUVIGNON

”The emblem of its producer”

Story Antiguas Reservas Cabernet Sauvignon was created in 1927 and is still the emblem of its producer. The ripe grapes of Valle del Maipo receive a classic treatment: manual picking, selection in the cellar, aromatisation in the cold, fermenting in a cool place, twelve months maturation in French oak casks and wine rests in bottles for another six months before sale. Antiguas Reserve offers structure, elegance and potential also for maturation.

Producer Founded in 1856, Cousiño-Macul is the oldest winery in Chile and is known as one of the country's finest wine producers. The estate focuses primarily on high quality in its production. All of their wines are made exclusively from their own grapes, following an authentic Chilean style. Located near Santiago, southeast of the city, in the Maipo Valley at the foot of the Andes, the vineyards are well protected from frost. The soil varies significantly. The estate cultivates nine grape varieties: Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Syrah, Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot, Chardonnay, Sauvignon Gris, Sauvignon Blanc, and Riesling. The first vine cuttings were imported from France in the 1860s. Cousiño-Macul operates based on principles of sustainable development and minimal intervention. Chemical use is kept to a minimum. Still family-owned, each generation of Cousiño-Macul aims to leave its own legacy by continuously improving upon their practices, if possible.

COLOR Ruby red

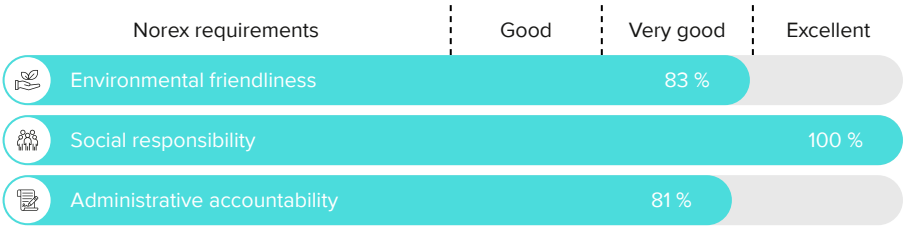

AROMA Blackcurrant on the nose with, notes of cranberries, roasted bell pepper, cocoa and eucalyptus

TASTE Full-bodied, medium tannins, notes of blackcurrant, chocolate and lightly spicy notes. Pleasantly round on the palate, good structure, length and nuances

TIPS FOR USE An excellent meat wine, also grilled meat and roasted vegetables. It is well suited for ripened cheeses. Antiguas Reserve is also great with mushroom risotto.
