

"Pinot Noir California style"

Story Pinot Noir grapes for this wine come from the Micke Grove vineyard of the Kautzin family, which was planted in 2006 in the lower area of the Mokelumne River in Lodi. This wine-growing region is the historic centre of Lodi and is known for its fine sandy soil. The nuance of Pinot Noir is complemented by the solid fruity notes and spiciness of Syrah (11%) and Petite Syrah (6%). The wine has been matured for 3 months in new French oak casks.

Producer The Kautz family's ambitious project, Ironstone, is headquartered in Lodi, California, but its actual production, visitor center, and the amphitheater used for concerts draw people to the village of Murphys, which was an important center during the California Gold Rush. The combination of excellent wine, events, and high-quality hospitality defines the estate's operations, although their wine production alone is significant both in quantity and quality. Ironstone is one of California's largest family-owned wineries and operates in line with sustainable practices.

COLOR Bluish purple red

AROMA Baked cherries on the nose, raspberries, dark plum, cola drink, chocolate, black tea with cloves

TASTE Medium-bodied, soft tannins, sweetly fruity, notes of berries, spicy, smoky and spicy

TIPS FOR USE Suitable for grilled meat, mutton, for duck and roasted vegetables. Its sweet fruitiness and fine acid structure make it an excellent cheese wine.
