VINTAE LOPEZ DE HARO RESERVA

”Elegant and rich in flavour”

Story the Tempranillo and Graciano grapes come from old vines on a rugged slope, with low yields and correspondingly high quality. The vines look out over the Ebro River near San Vicente de la Sonsierra. A long two-week maceration while the wine is fermented in large chilled tanks gives the wine a deep colour and a rich body. The maturation in French and American oak casks lasted 20 months. The result is a fine combination of fruity and ripeness, that make this wine an elegant classic. Wine suitable for vegan

Producer Hacienda López de Haro is situated in the heart of Rioja, in the village of San Vicente de la Sonsierra. The Toloño mountain range shields the vineyards from cold winds, while the Ebro River provides necessary moisture. The area boasts its microclimate, abundant wind, and moderate temperatures, with rainfall primarily during the winter months. Here lie Rioja Alta's best vineyards of old Tempranillo vines, which produce low yields in meager soils but of high quality. Bodega Hacienda López de Haro collaborates with a group of trusted growers whose commitment to quality, love for their work, and sense of community are integral to the winery's operations. All the wines here share common traits: grapes sourced from the finest areas of Rioja, dedicated work in the vineyards, and a passion poured into crafting each wine. To become a classic, age and lineage aren't prerequisites; it's more about working magic in quality and diligence, offering experiences akin to passion. Hacienda López de Haro represents a new classic, challenging standards, banality, and preconceptions. The winery is owned by Vintae.

COLOR Ruby red with a hint of brick red on the edge

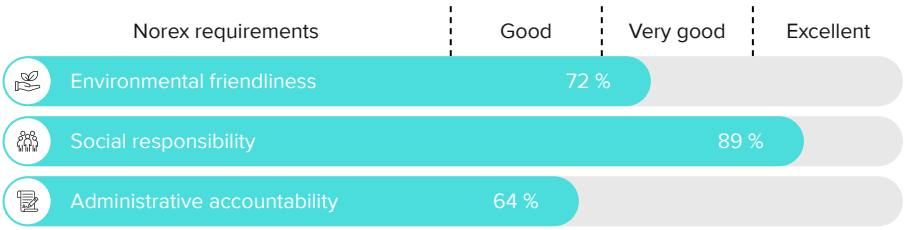

AROMA Ripe red fruit and dark berries on the nose, spices and gentle vanilla, fresh tobacco and herbs

TASTE Richly fruity, silky tannins, lightly spicy, nuanced, long and well-balanced. Elegant and enjoyable wine.

TIPS FOR USE Tasty meat wine for game, reindeer, for beef and mutton, but also goes well with richly flavoured hard cheeses.
