Producer

"Perez-Pardon family, based in Spain, owns Bodegas Engueran, established in 1999, which possesses 160 hectares of high-quality vineyards. Situated in the southwest corner of the Valencia province, the landscape is characterized by mountainous terrain dominated by ravines and wide valleys. The area has long-standing traditions in winemaking, with incredibly diverse soil variations, embracing the concept of terroir, which is also intrinsic to Valencia. Diego Fernández, the young Valencian winemaker at Bodegas Engueran, completed his wine studies in Montpellier, France, gaining winemaking experience in France, Australia, and California. The Pardon family's vineyards are individually typed and classified, allowing each plot to grow the grape variety best suited to it. Bodegas Engueran's production is organic, suitable for vegans, and additionally holds a Carbon Proof certification. They've also established the Bodegas Enguera Mediterranean Viticulture Institute to explore the most ecological and environmentally friendly vineyard techniques. Bodegas Enguera stands as a trailblazer in Valencia's wine production, offering wines with an exceptionally good price-to-quality ratio."

AROMA Fresh aroma with pale grapefruit on the nose, lemon, white currants, green apples and minerals
